Not Roman, fishing officer of The Miami Herald, made timely comment in his column Monday about fishing and hunting in Florida as they are related to gubernatorial candidates. Roman's column is reproduced in full below:

"An ambitious battle for the sportsman of south Florida is being waged by Elmer Burgess of West Palm Beach in his first monthly column in 'The Sunshine Special' dated June 23. It is short and simple, appealing and possible of achievement."

"Elect Elmer Burgess to be the sportsman of south Florida, where sport-fishing means more than turpentine and cattle feed. With a state legislature that will legalize the wanton destruction of Florida's natural resources, as permitting the State Livestock Sanitary Board to kill off the wild deer supply because of the alleged incidence of fever ticks on these animals," says Elmer. "It is high time the sportsman band together with every right-thinking citizen in getting a stop to such scurrilous, high-handed proceedings."

Elmer then goes on to ask "wild organizations of south Florida to use their influence in their various communities in cementing this idea of the state legislature voting as a block for one man for governor. When the time comes, he says, south Florida will select that man. We believe Elmer has got something there—but we believe we extend the cementing action to sportsmen everywhere. Let's get the north Florida sportsmen ought to be helped to help us 'swamp babies' down here elect a good man."

Pahokee Scouts Home After Trip To N.Y. Big Show

Scoutmaster S. T. Winfree
Brings Group Back
Without Mishap

The boys are home! Eleven well-trained members of Pahokee Boy Scout Troop 23 and their Scoutmaster, S. T. Winfree, arrived in Pahokee Tuesday morning after 17 eventful days spent in traveling through more than a dozen states.

They traveled North to New York City, via Jacksonville and Washington, D. C., and parked their big trailer at Rahway, N. J., while visiting the Fair. They spent three full days "doing" the big exposition and crammed many sights and experiences into their brief stay. After the Empire State Building, in New York City, they actually met Garland Crenshaw, filling station manager for B. Elliott in Pahokee.

Religious Census Of Canal Point Made

A religious census was taken in Canal Point recently by a committee of ten persons working in groups of two, one from the Baptist and one from the Methodist churches. The census was taken in the Canal Point district gathering first-hand information.

The purpose of the census was to find out how many prospects there were living here now during the summer months. The census might be interested in the Sunday Schools and the Daily Vacation Bible School to be conducted next month.

The committees did the most thorough job that has ever been done in the way of taking a census. Only a very few families were missed. It was surprising to find that there was a white population here of more than 700.

Each person was asked to state his religious preference and the people were very kind in granting this information. Some 15 denominations were preferred. Of those stating a preference the Baptist and Methodist churches had the largest total of 450 for the two institutions.

Johnny Carr Tells Rote Club Of Trip

Scoutmaster S. T. Winfree and Boy Scout mascot Johnny Carr were guests of the Rote Club for lunch at Maconic Hall Thursday noon.

Giving a full account of his trip with ten other Boy Scouts to the World's Fair, a and other points of interest in the North, Johnny kept the club members in constant laughter. Scoutmaster Winfree explained that the trip was accomplished without a hitch.

It was a tired but happy bunch of boys and their Scoutmaster who traveled all night Monday instead of camping because of the prevalence of mosquitoes and the talkative little spokesman for the entire bunch was Johnny, Pahokee's well liked mascot.

Stopping at Washington, D. C., Johnny explored the museum there, ignoring a sign "Do Not Touch," he not only touched, but climbed onto an airplane on exhibit. He arrived home with a Washington Monument claimed as his own.

At the Fair, the World of Tomorrow section was a particular attraction. The Empire State Building was tall enough, Johnny said, to enable one to see everything that was going on except that he couldn't find Pahokee.

Johnny kept constantly referring to the party he was attending at Niagara Falls. When asked by V. C. Denton what was the outstanding impression of the world trip, Johnny answered, "The party." He learned to dance there, he said.

Other Scout making the trip were Edwin, son of J. Hancock, Elmo Hancock, J. W. Mullis, T. J. Mullis, Donald J. Hand, Billy Stuchlik, Billy Cate, Vance Denton and Sam Giberhart.

Sponsors of the trip were merchants and philanthropic citizens of Pahokee. B. Elliott's Post agency supplied motive power with a reconconditioned Ford V-8 coupe. Boy's Electric Service donated a radio and the Lake Okechobee Savings and Loan Association of Belle Glade Wednesday, according to Hugh J. Bratley, secretary, of the association. Hospitalization

Hospitalization in the Glades received a substantial lift this week when the county commission approved an increase of $2,000 in the yearly budget for county hospital care to the indigent.

Although increase in the budget is mainly to take care of greater hospital services rendered by the Good Samaritan and Pine Ridge Hospitals, it nevertheless indicates a greater emphasis of badly needed medical facilities for the underprivileged. The Glades will benefit as well as the East Coast from the new $30,000 yearly budget for county medical expense.

A member of the Good Samaritan Hospital Association board of governors Wednesday pointed out that West Palm Beach hospitals were "forced" to care for patients from the Glades section who, under adopted regulations, should be confined in the Everglades Memorial Hospital at Pahokee. He cited costs of $1,548.13 for such care to negroes last year and a total of $1,207.95 for white people. He stated that West Palm Beach hospitals had not been reimbursed for these hospital services. And all Glades patients transferred from the Pahokee hospital to the West Palm Beach institution would add to an amount deducted from the county aid fund allotted to the Pahokee hospital.

It seems as if such an arrangement is forming the well-known vicious circle. It should be a recognized fact the Pahokee hospital is not large enough to care for all transients, underprivileged and seasonal residents of the Glades requiring medical care. At least it is not able to do so during the busy fall, winter and spring months.

For the first time, the Glades hospital is not able to care for every type of case registered at the institution and the active financial support of the financially well-off is sadly lacking. West Palm Beach hospitals do not experience this condition. They are subsidized by payment of regular fees for each case.

But, the story in the Glades is much different. A majority of local residents, unhappily, are not interested in the welfare of their own hospital. During the season the hospital staff is swamped with all manner of county residents, at times, unable to accommodate all who ask admission.

In spite of these handicaps, the Everglades Memorial Hospital has made encouraging gains and substantial improvements to equipment and facilities. It is fortunate in being directed by an intelligent and active board that serves the services of physicians of recognized skill and ability. When county commissioners agreed the budget item for hospitalization should be increased and indicated that means will be studied for a special levy for hospitalization, for county hospital care, one can only hope for the first forward step. Unless the local tax-payers are willing and able to pay for medical and hospital aid to those people who themselves cannot, then hospitalization of medicine is the only alternative. In fact, that seems to be the course of action planned in many places in the state.

Adding to hopeful prospects for improved local hospitalization is the information that the Beck-Morrow hospital bill for western Palm Beach county may be passed by the legislature. It would be a great relief. It had been erroneously reported that the measure required a referendum within 30 days after it became a law June 11.

Some opposition to the measure is reported on the argument that it would increase the tax on taxable property. It is necessary, however, to pay up to 10 mills on taxable property to go toward hospital maintenance. Additions to our present hospital or construction of a new institution and the governing of its affairs by a board named locally for regulation at least in equities, would be a more adequate hospitalization for all people of all Everglades communities.

Deer At Mercy Of Hunters; No Limit

The deer hunting season, which began unusually early this year in Collier County, is the first open season to be held in the Collier County game breeding ground in the western part of the county was ordered opened to deer hunters only on Saturday, July 1.

The law permitting the special hunting season was adopted in the 1939 legislature when the suggestion of the State Livestock Sanitary Board and was proposed as part of the boards tick eradication campaign.

A special $5.00 county license must be paid for deer hunting privileges in the game breeding ground. In addition, hunters must have either a regular State or county license. Regular State and county licenses issued now do not expire until February 15, 1940 and will cover the regular hunting season also.

All regulations were reported as having been set aside with no restrictions as to the number of deer each hunter may kill, use of dogs, headlights, fire hunting, etc.

The Livestock Sanitary Board of one officer and one deputy shall have complete supervision, hunting to be confined to deer-quarantine areas. All deer killed must be reported to representatives of the board, at designated camps, for inspection, and three rules have been set by the board: 1. Deer must be skinned and butchered by the hunter.

2. Hunters must be placed in salt at designated camps for not less than 10 days, or dipped by a representative of the livestock board for immediate movement.

Selling of deer killed in the quarantined areas is prohibited and only hunters in the area will be permitted to sell.

Only hunters hired by the livestock board will be allowed in the area after October 31.

Transients Rated
Same As Homefolks

Directly affecting the labor situation in the Everglades, the Works Progress Administration last week reported a study of the "national transients problem" was recommended Federal assistance for migrant families.

Since the first Federal relief legislation at least in equities, would be a more adequate hospitalization for all people of all Everglades communities.

Under the WPA, the study covered 5,489 of approximately 200,000 transients in the state during the two years.

The report stated: "Pursue efforts toward providing relief to non-transients should recognize that migrants in need are not essentially different from those who are not migrants."

The Senate recently voted down proposals for additional funds for the Farm Security Administration to build more migratory labor camps such as the project scheduled to begin in Belle Glade. The only maintenance of existing camps will be "provided in the future, it was decided."

"Belle Glade's two migratory labor camps are being built by the Senate ruling, however, as the 1939-40 budget."

Red "the barber" Gurkin and Walter Ashley went fishing on the Fourth of July. They were fishing for a lake? It seems that the popular Red had fished on a most beautiful fish-filled lake near Indiantown some 11 years ago and he decided he'd like to lake it absolutely. They traveled the lake in a small boat and fished it absolutely no lake. And so Mr. Gurkin was either dreaming of his lake, his direction or the blasted thing had dried up. At any rate, Gurkin and Ashley (humans of the lake) left without finding a fish or a lake.

At Lakeport, Friday, "Spud" (the weasel) Murphy and Cliff O'Connell were fishing. They were caught a fine 5 pound, 3 ounce specimen but failed to mention what Cliff did. Probably he just baited the hook and reeled.

They tell this tall yarn in Everglades, west, and fish hang out. J. J. Jones as "Father" of the hook and reeled.

Geiger's Grocery Is Ransacked By Thief

M. D. Geiger's Grocery Store in Canal Point was rifled of $12 in cash, several cartons of cigarettes, and a refrigerator and meat counter were ransacked. The thief broke into and entered the store Tuesday night after smashing a glass pane window in the front door and unlatching a lock on the inside. Deputy C. B. Bowen investigated the burglary and said the thief had been looking for a hidden sum of money. Failing to get what he wanted, he took what could be found and left, said Bowen.

WALKER IS ILL

Friends of R. G. ("Tillie") Walker of Hollywood will be glad to learn that he expects to be out and around again after a stage of illness. Tillie is widely known and loved all over this city of Florida. He is president of Hollywood Kiwanis club, but he is constantly making excursions from the south to visit the Glades. He is a member of the Miami Herald. Mr. Walker is a friend of the New York Life Insurance Company and has been visiting in the Lake Region who will be glad to know that he is improving.

KINGSLY ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. George Kingsley left yesterday morning for a vacation which they will spend in Kentucky with friends and relatives. They expect to visit the World's Fair in New York before their return. GETTING IT SORT

These methods for relieving man's work! Look at these rubber tires on lawn mowers and wheel-harrows, for instance. There is many a home where papa and sonny isn't doing a good job and keeping busy. If Mother can't hear the machine going - it is hard to convince her if she doesn't get the whir and click. And the wheel-harrow equipped with rubber tires, too. It sort of looks like we were trying to slip up quietly on the work so nobody knows we are doing it. Our forebears tackled the job with all the noise that accompanies the tool and didn't make any bones about sparring the neighbor's ears or their own muscles. But any way of making modern tasks lighter we take them, and like it, what's more!

LOTS OF PAPER

We always seem to be alluding to the King and Queen of England these days. There is usually news about them popping up. Now we learn that the King George subscribes to $1,700 worth of newspapers a year. What a lot of paper that would be in anybody's home, but when you consider that there are a lot of shelves and cupboards, dresser and kitchen drawers to be lined in places where their Majesties call home, it might not be too much paper. Queen Elizabeth wouldn't have to get papers from her neighbors when she stored the woolsens away, (they say moths don't like newspaper). Think of the funnies in $1,700 worth of news paper. Almost too many laughs to be appreciated. And housework would suffer in order to give way to the continued stories. You would really be a well-read citizen if you subscribed to these papers, and read them. There are some folks who scarcely find time to read this one.

NOT UNUSUAL

We read the other day about twins who finished school this year with identical grades in various subjects. Seems this shows they not only look alike, they think alike. It recalls to mind the twins from the fellow who sat back of us in school wasn't our twin but he usually got the same grades. There are a number of oldsters who can tell you of like cases where minds worked identically in algebra and history tests. Of course with the popular use of the honor system today there isn't so much of this "thinking alike". But whether you were the fellow in back that needed the assistance or the one in front who gave it, you were carrying out a "good neighbor" policy that was to come into fad later on.

There are still some boys who want to do as Father did and not as Father asks them to do.

The average man is hit by hard luck and immediately forgets all about the times his luck was good.

Some folks waste the first half of their life time preparing to waste the last half.

Everything may stop on your path but the payments must go on forever.

Experimental Planting Castor Beans Made

A northern firm, said to be headed by Gar Wood, Detroit manufacturer, has leased a tract of seventy acres from John Tiedt in the Liberty Point area and has planted it in a new type of castor bean which is growing very nicely.

It is said that this planting is experimental and several such plots have been planted elsewhere in the Glades and in other parts of the state. Those in charge of the planting of the land have been very reluctant to give out information as to their plans and it is not known to what use the castor beans will be put. It is indicated, however, that there will be a good market and as the beans are only grown in the summer time an off-season for most crops, they may some day become a nice source of revenue for Florida farmers—Glades County Democrat.
